Information on current status of Washington Elementary:

You may have noticed Davis School District has begun tearing down Washington Elementary (located at 340 West 650 South), which was closed last spring. We've had a lot of questions about what will happen with the property. Although the School District owns the land and could sell it to be developed as housing, it has given Bountiful City the opportunity to purchase the property first. The potential purchase would require approval from residents. The City Council is considering asking voters in November if they would approve a bond (with associated property tax increase) to buy the ten-acre parcel so it can remain playfields and open recreation space. The topic will be discussed more in the spring as we prepare our annual budget. Stay tuned for more information on this unique opportunity.
