#	Answer	%	Count
1	A single family neighborhood with some commercial and multi-family residential	43.50%	164
2	A transitioning neighborhood changing from single family to multi-family/commercial	36.60%	138
3	Mostly a commercial and apartment area with a few single family homes	16.71%	63
4	Other (please enter your response in the text box below)	3.18%	12
	Total	100%	377

Other (please enter your response in the text box below)

Some streets are all single family, second west is a mix of business & multi, I believe developers want it to be high density. Please only 2 story max & lower density housing.

200 west is already highly commercial. South end of block contains several commercial uses now.

Im not certain

A strip of housing and other conglomerate that desperately needs updating and direction. Multifamily housing, while needed, is a deterrent to more affluent persons who would want to choose location because schools are perceived to be worse, likely more petty crime, and potential for home invasion seems higher.

I don't know

Just a single family neighborhood.

A mix of everything, commercial, residential, and multi-family

Again, no more apartments please!

No more Multifamily units or commercial period. Over built already in this small area

Not sure

Single family only or commerical

Senior Stand alone affordable cottages
